

LEGAL UPDATE

Competition Law Workshop

16 April 2025 1 min read

ARE YOU COMPLIANT?

In the past few years the competition authorities have interpreted the fundamental concepts of "control" and "part of the business" as used in the definition of a merger under the Competition Act. These judgements have provided welcome guidance, but also have implications for well-established past practices.

This second workshop on competition compliance will give you the understanding to identify merger implications attached to transactions as we will address, amongst others:

- When is a transaction a "merger" under the Competition Act?
- When must a merger be notified?
- The consequences of getting it wrong.

Who should attend: Risk and compliance officers and legal advisors.
