What do recent events and amendments mean for the restless South African labour landscape, at a time when the industry is experiencing unprecedented challenges and pressure to reform and adopt better practices?

Join Werksmans and guest speaker Advocate Dali Mpofu SC at the upcoming labour seminar where we will be discussing topics pertinent to the industry, with particular focus on the following issues:

- Anticipated legislative changes and how these will affect your ability to run your business and manage your employees.
- Lessons learnt by labour and employers from the Marikana debacle. Advocate Dali Mpofu SC, legal representative for the families of the victims of the shootings, will be discussing his experiences during the Marikana commission.
- Counting the costs of the Constitutional Court decision in the South African Airways case. Is the Labour Court looking to restrict the impact of section 197 of the Labour Relations Act on business?
